Frank Howe, of Pawcatuck Failed to Make a Will-Brother From Jewett City Appointed Administrator, Bond $15,000—Fishing at Pleasant View Expensive.

The miscellaneous furd is one of the bandiest and therefore perhaps among the most abused of any appropriation made by town or city and is frequently exhausted before the end of the fiscal year! This is due sometimes to the lack of foresightedness on the part of the official body that proposes the budget as is the present case in Westerly and again by circumstances that budget as is the present case in Westerly and again by circumstances that cannot possibly be foreseen. In the call for the special financial town meeting, soon to be issued, there will be provision to make addition to the miscellaneous fund of 1913-1914.

The fund is not ample to meet the Babcock annuity of $300, for instance, although this is an established expense to the town. When the socialled Nestor house was deeded to this Episcopal church it was stippulated in the transfer that an annuity of $300 be paid to the grantor. Rev. Edward W. Babcock, or his wife, and to continue so long as either lived. The Edward W. Babcock, or his wife, and to continue so long as either lived. The Nestor house occupied a part of the present town hall property and was transferred by the church to the town of Westerly on terms agreeable to Mr. and Mrs. Babcock, which included continuation of the annuity clause.

Another draft on the miscellaneous fund is a bill from Attorney Walter Barney, of Providence, for legal services rendered the town in connection with the Courtland Palmer cases, several years ago. Then there are several other drains on the miscellaneous fund in connection with the new town fund in connection with the new town hall. The annual financial town meeting will be held in May and by getting this added appropriation a month in advance, discussion may be avoided when the regular appropriation is made for the miscellaneous fund of heid April 6 and the apparent main purpose is to decide upon the exten-sion of water service to Weekapaug. This is very much needed and as the property owners there have guaranteed the customary ten per cent, interest on cost of construction, the recommendation will probably pass without

This is considered an opportune time to slide in the addition to the miscellaneous fund, also an appropri-ation for improvement of highways at Watch Hill and for presenting the divergence of the appropriation made in the annual town meeting for the im-provement of Atlantic avenue, Pleasant View to some other section of the town.

Smelts are unusually large and plen-tiful in the Pawcatuck river, yet prices were never higher, and smelts as scarce in local markets as during the present season and the retail price is wenty-two cents a pound. It seems is if there was a local corner in the ish as the river fishermen sell their complete catch to a single dealer and eccive fifteen cents a pound, thus giv-ng the dealer a clear profit of seven cents a pound, as there is no shrinkige, no gross, but all net weight in melts. Large quantities of the smelts are shipped elsewhere as there is an vident scarcity even in markets where a dealer controls the supply.

It has the appearance of a smelt trust between the fishermen and a sintheir entire catch at an advanced price and the purchaser realizes a handsome profit. Other marketmen are unable to furnish native smelts to customers as it is impossible for them to purchase from the weir fishermen just now in
